

The First Amendment protects the media because they are to be our unbiased, diverse and trusted access to information critical to our lives. Today, the media is concentrated in a few powerful companies that control the information we receive. This must not continue. It threatens our democracy. As public servants, it is your duty to help protect us from the dissolution of critical safeguards. Do not allow any further consolidation of the media. Change the rules to break up existing consolidations.